The American Studies Program at Fairfield University
Is Proud to Announce the Third Annual Conference:

Race, Protest, and American Culture
Saturday, March 28, 2015
Kelley Center Presentation Room, 12:00 pm - 6:30 pm

---

Keynote lecture:

Nicholas G. Meriwether
Founding Archivist, The Grateful Dead Archive
McHenry Library, University of California
Santa Cruz

“Archiving the Counterculture and Raising the Dead: The Grateful Dead Archive and the Legacy of the Sixties”

Followed by reception and music by
The Phantom Pluckers.

---

Call for Papers

All Fairfield students are invited to propose papers on any topic in American Studies. Special consideration will be given to themes of race, protest, and American culture.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together undergraduate and graduate students and faculty in American Studies to share and celebrate scholarship across the disciplines. Submissions must include a 250-word abstract, name, contact information, and AV requests. (If your paper was for a class assignment, please indicate the course and professor.)

Deadline for Submissions: Friday, March 6, 2015

Submit hardcopy or electronic proposals to Professor David McFadden, Department of History,
(DMcFadden@fairfield.edu)

Contact American Studies Faculty Directors with questions or for additional information:
Professor Philip Eliasoph, Department of Visual Arts & Performing Arts/Art History, (PEliasoph@fairfield.edu), and/or
Professor Anna Lawrence, Department of History/Women, Gender, & Sexuality Studies, (ALawrence3@fairfield.edu)