THE COUNSELING PROFESSION

“Counseling is a professional relationship that empowers diverse individuals, families, and groups to accomplish mental health, wellness, education, and career goals.”

American Counseling Association

How Counselors Operate

Professional counselors utilize a wellness model in providing professional services to clients. By wellness we mean that the counseling profession is grounded in the humanistic narrative. Counselors understand that their therapeutic work rests on an appreciation of the counselor/client relationship and on a valuing of the subjective meanings that people construct (see Hansen, 2010). Counselors embrace multiple perspective and ways of knowing and carefully assess what works best for whom.

In following the wellness model, professional counselors first assess a client's level of well-being and then assist the client to reach an optimal level of well-being. Professional counselors view all mental and emotional problems from a developmental perspective in that various stages of life present concerns that must be addressed in order to progress successfully to the next stage of life. In addition, mental health is viewed on a continuum. Individuals are seen as constantly moving along this continuum depending on their life circumstances and emotional states of being. The professional counselor provides mental health services to increase the quality of life for clients, no matter where they are developmentally, taking into account their present emotional states.

Professional counselors often are employed in settings where they work in conjunction with other mental health professionals. All mental health professionals provide mental health services to clients and these services – which include counseling, problem diagnosis, treatment planning, testing, psychoeducation – often seem very similar. However, the wellness-oriented philosophy of helping and the content of the educational preparation programs of professional counselors distinguish them from all other mental health professionals.

A Historical Perspective

A historical perspective may help to convey an understanding of the counseling profession. Society has only recently begun viewing mental disorders as illnesses similar to physical illnesses. Prior to the 19th century, mental illnesses were often seen as conditions that were induced by evil spirits. During that time, persons with mental disabilities were ignored or incarcerated without treatment. The first mental health professions, including psychology, social work, psychiatry, and psychiatric nursing, were created to address the treatment of these mental disorders. Professional counseling, on the other hand, was developed at the turn of the century.

In the beginning, counseling was used to help place individuals in careers for which they were well-suited. Counseling psychology was then developed as a new specialty within psychology, with a focus on assisting basically healthy individuals in living more effective lives. Testing and job placement were also major emphases in counseling psychology. In the 1950s a new profession of master’s level professional counselors was created. Programs throughout the United States flourished preparing master’s level counselors. State laws were enacted to license professional counselors at the master’s level. Professional counselors are the newest mental health professional group and thus forth continue to solidify their professional identity and advocate for their important role in making society a better place.

Hansen, J.T. (2010, October 1). Extending the humanistic vision. Counseling Today ARE COUNSELORS UNIQUE?

Prevention; early intervention; wellness; empowerment; these four concepts remain uppermost in what makes counselors different from other mental health professionals. If counselors are to be successful in gaining societal recognition as a separate profession, it is imperative to continue to discuss, debate, analyze, evaluate, and establish ways to articulate the profession’s unique contributions.

Counselors must formulate a common philosophical foundation, different from that of other professionals, yet acceptable to the many specializations. Counselors must develop an identity that both reflects the core beliefs shared by all counselors and acknowledges the more specific knowledge and skills possessed by specialists within the field.

The focus on prevention distinguishes counseling from other professions. Counselors offer interventions that equip people to deal successfully with the developmental issues that we all must face. Developing a client’s ability to manage problems to his or her own satisfaction is the goal. Preventing a problem before it occurs may not be as dramatic as treating a mental disorder, but it is important to society. Even counselors who work with seriously mentally ill or severely disabled clients believe that preventing future problems is part of their goal.

A philosophy that embraces early intervention leads counselors to work with normal, healthy populations when they are at risk, before mental or emotional problems become severe. From a counselor’s perspective, recognizing early warning signs and using effective early interventions can produce long-lasting positive results.

Counselors seem to be the only mental health practitioners who emphasize mental health rather than mental illness. Promoting wellness and healthy lifestyles, and helping the clients achieve these goals distinguishes counselors from other mental health professionals.

The medical model of mental health treatment relegates clients to being recipients of services rather than acknowledging them as participants. The counseling process empowers clients to make choices and emphasizes informed participation by clients.

Counselors are still searching for answers to the question, “What makes counseling unique?” It is important that scholars and practitioners will continue to explore this important question. Looking at the methods we use to help the clients – prevention, early intervention, wellness, and empowerment – would be a good place to start.

PROFESSIONAL IDENTITY AND AFFILIATION

Matriculated students in the Counselor Education Department are urged to consider affiliation with a professional association serving the counseling profession. The primary organization within the counseling profession is the American Counseling Association (ACA). Benefits of membership include receiving the professional journals published by ACA, identification with current professional issues, opportunities to attend state, regional and national meetings, and the availability of professional liability insurance. In addition, ACA offers the opportunity to join divisions that relate to a wide variety of specialty areas within the counseling profession. Student membership in ACA is available at a reduced membership cost.

Students in the school counseling program may choose to join the American School Counseling Association (ASCA). ASCA provides benefits similar to ACA and deals more specifically with school counselor issues and content.

Students are also encouraged to join the Connecticut Counseling Association (CCA) and/or the Connecticut School Counseling Association (CSCA), or appropriate specialty division. Announcements for state, regional and national professional meetings are posted on the Department bulletin board in the Faculty Corridor on the first floor of Canisius Hall (near CNS 118). Events are sponsored on-campus by the Department and Chi Sigma Iota.
THE COUNSELOR EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The Counselor Education Department at Fairfield University is a part of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions (GSEAP). Degrees are offered in both School and Clinical Mental Health Counseling. Both master degree programs are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP). A master’s degree in counseling represents the terminal degree for practice. The Department strives to create a community of reflective learners who are committed to academic excellence and personal development. The Department fosters students’ professional development with opportunities to focus on multicultural dynamics and the role of social justice. Congruent with our Graduate School’s Conceptual Framework, our Department emphasizes four theoretical components: Scholar/Practitioner, Developmental Human Growth and Learning, Reflective Practitioner, and Advocacy for All Children and Families.

The School Counseling major prepares students to work as counselors in elementary, middle and secondary schools. In addition to general counseling skills, students, congruent with the ASCA (American School Counselor Association) guidelines, learn about skills unique to working in school settings (classroom guidance, teacher/parent consultation regarding developmental issues, implementation of peer facilitated programs). Graduates of the Clinical Mental Health Counseling major are prepared to work in a variety of human service settings, including mental health centers, substance abuse treatment centers, career planning and placement centers and other clinical mental health agencies offering counseling/therapy services, consultation and prevention programs.

Master’s degree programs are offered in School and Clinical Mental Health Counseling. The M.A. degree in School Counseling requires the completion of a minimum of 48 semester hours of graduate-level course work. The M.A. degree in Clinical Mental Health Counseling requires the completion of a minimum of 60 semester hours of graduate-level course work. Coursework consists of a strong base of theoretical knowledge with a comprehensive experiential component. Students may complete the Master’s degree on a part- or full-time basis. However, no student may complete the program in fewer than four academic semesters. Courses are offered in a variety of formats to accommodate different schedules and needs, and courses are rotated to increase accessibility to students.

Students may choose to continue their studies with a Certificate of Advanced Study (CAS) degree. This degree is offered in School and Clinical Mental Health Counseling. The CAS degree requires students to complete 30-semester credit hours of post-Master’s graduate-level coursework.

The Department also offers two 18-credit, 6 course Advanced Training Certificates. The Advanced Training Certificate in the Integration of Spirituality and Religion in Counseling is based on the 14 competencies identified by the Association of Spiritual, Ethical and Religious Values in Counseling, a division of the American Counseling Association. The Advanced Training Certificate in Substance Abuse Counseling is based on competencies established by the Connecticut Certification Board for Drug and Alcohol Counseling; the completion of these courses is required in order to sit for the certification exam that leads to licensing as a licensed or certified alcohol/drug abuse counselor.
MISSION STATEMENT
The Counselor Education Department faculty members acknowledge our obligation as gatekeepers to students who will pursue professional preparation as clinical mental health counselors or school counselors and to the larger public to be served by our graduates. In our role as gatekeepers, we value the need to create a climate of professional care and consistency from a compassionate, supportive view.

As a program within a Jesuit community, we maintain a primary focus on issues of social justice and the use of Ignatian pedagogy in our pursuit of academic, as well as clinical excellence. We subscribe to a belief in the inherent worth and dignity of each person; to the need to develop throughout the lifespan toward a greater sense of self-realization; to a commitment to serving a diverse society; to a commitment of service to others both for the prevention and remediation of life’s problems; and to the pursuit of the highest standards of excellence in the counseling profession.

Fairfield University is located in Fairfield County, Connecticut, a county comprised of diverse communities that span urban, suburban and rural constituencies, and include neighborhoods of tremendous affluence as well as intense poverty. Our student population consists primarily of individuals residing in the local suburban communities that our diverse location includes. We are committed to training our students to meet the needs of these diverse communities by including experiences throughout their training that provide exposure to a variety of settings. Within these experiences we provide students with support and opportunities for challenge that encourage them to become reflective and critical practitioners as they work with individuals in the pursuit of increased self-awareness and well-being.

DISPOSITION STATEMENT
Education, psychology, and mental health professionals are vested by the public with a trust and responsibility requiring the highest ideals of professional service. Therefore, candidates of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions shall be required to adhere to the highest standards of ethical and professional conduct.

All prospective and admitted candidates of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions shall demonstrate personal and professional dispositions that are:

- embodied in the mission statement of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions;
- outlined in the ethical codes, rules, policies and procedures, administrative regulations, and laws applicable to their chosen profession; and
- mandated by their particular graduate programs and departments.

Candidates who fail to adhere to and comply with these personal and professional dispositional requirements may, at the discretion of the Dean of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions, be:

- denied admissions to the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions;
- dismissed from the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions;
• required to withdraw from Graduate School of Education and Allied professions courses;
• required to successfully complete academic remediation as required and determined by the Dean of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions and/or
• required to undergo appropriate counseling or other intervention as determined by the Dean of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions before being allowed to continue in their program of study.

PROGRAM ACCREDITATION

Accreditation in the United States is a voluntary process performed by nongovernmental units, such as institutional agencies or professional associations. These organizations establish criteria and procedures for evaluating the quality of education offered by institutions or academic programs.

There are two types of accreditation:

1) Institutional Accreditation - This type of accreditation is granted by regional and national accrediting commissions of schools and colleges. It is awarded to total units such as state universities or private colleges.

2) Specialized Accreditation - This type of accreditation is awarded to professional programs within institutions, or to occupational schools offering specific training, skills and knowledge. Often, specialized accrediting bodies are organized by professional associations representing such fields as business, counseling, law, or public health.

BENEFITS OF ACCREDITATION

To the public, accreditation provides:

a. An assurance of external evaluation of the institution or program and finding that there is conformity to general expectations in higher education or the professional field;

b. An identification of institutions and programs which have voluntarily undertaken explicit activities directed at improving the quality of the institution and its professional programs, and are carrying them out successfully;

c. An improvement in the professional services available to the public, as accredited programs modify their requirements to reflect changes in knowledge and practices generally accepted in the field.

To students, accreditation provides:

a. An assurance that the educational activities of an accredited institution or program have been found to be satisfactory and therefore meet the needs of students;

b. Assistance in the transfer of credits between institutions or in the admission of students to advanced degrees, through the general acceptance of credits among accredited institutions when the performance of the student has been satisfactory and the credits to be transferred are appropriate to the receiving institution;

c. A prerequisite in many cases for entering a profession.

To institutions of higher education accreditation provides:

a. Enhancement of visibility and recognition;

b. Attraction and recruitment of highly qualified students and faculty;

c. Clarification of the program's mission and future direction;

d. A stimulus for self-evaluation and program improvement.

Fairfield University’s Counselor Education M.A. Degree programs in Clinical Mental Health Counseling and School Counseling first received accreditation by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) in 1986; the first counselor education programs in Connecticut to do so. Receipt of this accreditation required meeting a rigorous set of program and faculty standards.

In January, 2009, after a 2008 site visit by an accreditation team, the two programs were accredited again for an eight-year period through March 31, 2017. "The two programs at Fairfield University were assessed on 244 standards and met them all. This achievement is a tribute to the excellence of these programs, our students, and our faculty," said Dr. Diana Hulse, chair of the Department of Counselor Education.

The Clinical Mental Health Counseling program is currently accredited under the 2001 standards for Community Counseling programs as a Community Counseling Program. The CACREP 2009 standards combine the Community Counseling and Mental Health Counseling standards into standards for Clinical Mental Health Counseling programs. The counseling program intends to seek accreditation for this program as a Clinical Mental Health Counseling program when it comes up for reaccreditation in March of 2017, as per CACREP guidelines.
FACULTY

All full-time faculty members within the Counselor Education Department hold doctoral degrees in Counselor Education or Counseling Psychology. Other faculty who teach required counseling courses are from the disciplines of psychology, marriage and family therapy and education. In addition, adjunct faculty members are sometimes called upon to teach specialty courses in the theory or practice of counseling.

ADVISING SYSTEM

When students are admitted into the Counselor Education Department, they are each assigned an academic advisor. Advisors remain in that role to their advisees unless a request to change advisors is made. Although in most cases it is desirable for students to stay with their permanent advisor, it is students’ right to change advisors at any time during their course of study. It is the responsibility of the students to make regular contact (usually once a semester) with their advisors regarding courses to be taken and overall progress in the program.

It is recommended that students not take more than two courses during the summer semester due to the intensity of the course schedule and the coursework requirements. Students must meet with their advisors if they would like to take more than two courses during this time.

Please note: Program faculty are usually unavailable for advising during the summer. If you need to discuss course registration or your plan of study, please contact the Department Chair.

Among the advisor’s responsibilities are the following:

a. To develop a plan of study with each advisee for timely completion of the degree requirements.

b. To advise the student each semester about courses to take in the subsequent semester.

c. To communicate any corrective feedback to the student as a result of faculty evaluations of students.

d. To review the advisee’s records at the time that the student registers to graduate to determine that the student has met all program requirements.

e. To serve overall as a liaison between the Department and the advisee.

CERTIFICATION AND LICENSURE

STATE CERTIFICATION AS A SCHOOL COUNSELOR

Upon successful completion of the School Counseling Master’s program, a student will be eligible to apply for Connecticut State Certification as a school counselor, grades K-12. Certification is granted by the Connecticut State Department of Education. To apply for state certification, the student must obtain an application from the Associate Dean of Education and Allied Professions, Room 102, Canisius Hall. Upon completing the application, the student should obtain an official transcript of graduate work from the Registrar's Office, Kelley Center, to include with the application. Official transcripts must be in a sealed University envelope. The student is then responsible for submitting the certification application, transcript and a personal check made payable to the State Department of Education to the Associate Dean of the GSEAP, Room 102, Canisius Hall. Upon receipt of the student's application materials, the Associate Dean will confirm with the Counselor Education Department chair that the student has met all state of Connecticut and University requirements for school counselor certification and will forward the application to the Certification Office of the State Department of Education.

Note: Students wishing to obtain state certification as a school counselor must either have a CT teaching certificate and three years of successful teaching in a CT public school or do a 10-month, full-time internship in a CT public school.

LICENSURE AS A PROFESSIONAL COUNSELOR

Connecticut’s counselor licensure law (PL 97-311) became effective on October 1, 1997, providing eligible individuals accessibility to Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) status. Graduates wishing to apply for licensure must:

1. Accrue 60 graduate semester hours in or related to counseling [to include a graduate degree of not less than 42 semester hours.
2. Pass the National Counselor Examination (NCE) produced by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC).
3. Complete 3,000 hours of post-degree supervised counseling experience, with accompanying evidence of at least 100 hours of supervision by a licensed mental health professional as listed under state requirements.

Upon successful completion of these requirements, individuals are eligible to apply for licensure.

NATIONAL COUNSELOR EXAM

The National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) is an independent, not-for-profit organization whose primary purposes are to establish and monitor a national certification system, to identify to professionals and the public those counselors who have voluntarily sought and obtained generic counselor certification, and to maintain a registry of these counselors. This process grants recognition to counselors who have met predetermined NBCC standards in their training, experience, and performance on the National Counselor Examination (NCE). A counselor who is certified by the NBCC becomes a National Certified Counselor (NCC). In addition, the NCE examination serves as the State Licensing examination in the state of Connecticut. The NCE is not required for graduation, but is highly recommended, as it is one of the requirements to become a Licensed Professional Counselor.

Students in the Clinical Mental Health Counseling program and the School Counseling program are eligible to take the National Counselor Examination (NCE) upon completion of the courses focusing on the eight core CACREP areas. The NCE application process varies according to your status as either a Master’s degree student or a CAS student. Please be sure to discuss your particular circumstance with your advisor or with the testing coordinator. The exam is administered at Fairfield University around the date of the CPCE during the fall and spring semesters. Students can take both exams, NCE and CPCE, in the same semester if they so choose. Students will be notified of the NCE application deadline and test date via e-mail at the start of each semester. Students must also pay the fee in Canisius 102 prior to the posted deadline. Students will receive their score from the National Board for Certified Counselors 6-8 weeks after taking the exam.

Further information about the NCE as well as study materials can be found at http://www.nbcc.org/NCE.
The Counselor Department at Fairfield University is fully accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP). In fully endorsing the 2009 standards adopted by CACREP, the following chart lists the Counselor Education Department’s program-level objectives. Objectives 1 - 5 reflect the department’s goal of providing a high quality program of study to all students that incorporates our commitment to diversity, professional practice, the development of clinical expertise and the acquisition of dispositional attitudes consistent with our values. Objectives 6 – 13 reflect section II.G of the 2009 CACREP standards regarding educational experiences that demonstrate knowledge in each of the eight common core curricular areas. Objectives 14 and 15 reflect the 2009 CACREP standards for Clinical Mental Health Counseling and School Counseling.

PLANS OF STUDY

To ensure that all students complete all of the program requirements in a systematic, well-defined manner, an individualized plan of study must be developed in cooperation with your academic advisor. This plan will represent a plan for the completion of program requirements that takes into account a logical sequencing of courses, the student’s desired timeline, and programmatic expectations. Use of this structure is designed to enhance the student’s graduate studies at Fairfield and provide for the optimal learning experience.

The following is a suggested sequence of classes to consider when determining your plan of study. Please be advised that the program does not offer practicum or either sections of internship (school and clinical mental health counseling) during the summer term. If your fieldwork requires two consecutive semesters, please plan accordingly. This might involve taking practicum in the spring term and completing two semesters of internship the following fall and spring terms. If you are planning to do your fieldwork in an agency setting that approves interruption between semesters of fieldwork, Clinical Mental Health Counseling students can enroll in practicum in the fall semester and complete fieldwork the following spring and fall terms. Please be advised that you will need to work with the clinical coordinator to identify an agency that either requires continuous fieldwork to be completed in consecutive semesters or an agency that allows for a break in fieldwork during the summer.

Your advisor is the person with whom you determine your plan of study, including your sequence of courses. Your advisor’s role is to guide you throughout your program of study. Therefore, it is in your best interest to utilize your advisor’s knowledge and resources.

CN 410 Grief and Loss Counseling
An introductory course in the exploration of conceptual models and clinical interventions related to grief and loss. The focus of this course is on developing sensitivity, knowledge, and practical skills working with grief, bereavement, and end of life issues in counseling and cross-cultural approaches. It is designed to inform students how loss is a pervasive, natural process of life and with skilled understanding and intervention can provide healing, meaning and transformation to self and others. The impact of religious and spiritual belief systems on bereavement, grief, and loss will be covered. Family interventions and conceptualizing grief and loss from a systems perspective will be discussed. Three credits.

CN 446 Spirituality and Counseling
An introductory course in the exploration of developmental models and clinical interventions related to the interface of spirituality and counseling. The focus of this course is on developing knowledge and practical skills in working with spiritual and religious issues in counseling. Three credits.

CN 515 Trauma and Crisis Intervention
This course addresses current history, research, and models relevant to trauma and crisis intervention. Specific focus will be placed on understanding the role of spirituality, across cultures, in counseling children, men, women, and families. In addition, skills essential for response to trauma while working with groups will be addressed. Conceptualization from a systems perspective will be addressed. Forgiveness, hardiness, resiliency, and the dynamics of violence, religious and political, will be discussed. Emphasis will be placed on understanding the role of spirituality while working with individuals and groups. An overview of the affective, behavioral, cognitive, and neurological sequelae in response to trauma and crisis will be discussed, with emphasis on skills essential for crisis intervention, including assessment of safety and security concerns, triage, lethality, mass disaster, death notification, suicide, murder, and natural disaster. In addition, models essential for the care of the caregiver will be identified. The course’s instructional format will combine experiential, demonstration, and discussion methods. Active learning is essential to continued development. Three credits.

CN 533 Advanced Multicultural Counseling Strategies and Skills
This course provides in-depth opportunities for students to deepen and expand their multicultural competencies and counseling skills for working with diverse belief systems and populations. Exploration of diverse spiritual, religious, ethnic, and systemic belief systems will allow students to develop cross-cultural competencies and understanding of the impact of the cultural context on the therapeutic process. Topics included will be pedagogy of the oppressed, religious violence and trauma, refugee and immigration concerns. (Prerequisite: CN 433 or equivalent and CN 553). Three credits.

CN 520 Spiritual Interventions: Tools for Competent Practice
Spiritual interventions tap into the affective domain and provide counselors and clients with the opportunity to explore their creativity, self-expression, and drive to be fully human. This course will allow counselors to learn the therapeutic benefits and process of using spiritual interventions in counseling that inform the process of healing and transformation. Interventions will include mindfulness meditation, creative mandalas, and guided imagery. Counselors will learn competencies for effective use of integrating spirituality into the counseling process, conceptualizing from a systems perspective and explore several spiritual interventions to enhance self-awareness and improve their ability to be present and attend to their clients. (Prerequisites: CN 446, CN 553). Three credits.

CN 525 Spirituality and Wellness
This course provides a holistic approach to wellness integrating mind, body, and spirit interventions into the counseling process. An overview of wellness models, assessment tools, and spiritual practices as strength resources will be explored. Students will explore lifespan and cross-cultural influences on wellness. Development of wellness and prevention plans and research on health and spirituality will be a focus. Three credits.

CN/FT 465 Introduction to Substance Abuse and Addictions
Candidates explore basic information about the history and current use and abuse of various drugs and alcohol. Topics include addiction, 12-step programs, physiological effects, FAS, COAs, and family systems, as well as culturally relevant prevention, intervention and treatment strategies for individuals and families. Cross-referenced as FT 465. Three credits.

CN 466 Substance Abuse Interventions
This course uses didactic and experiential techniques to understand and facilitate interventions with substance abusers and their families. Topics include the role of motivational counseling and techniques developed by the Johnson Institute. (Prerequisite: CN 465 or a basic understanding of the addictions field). Three credits.

CN/FT 565 Substance Abuse and the Family
This course brings together substance abuse studies and family systems approaches. Students are presented with a knowledge base of skills and methods for assessing and treating family systems. The course identifies the addictive and intergenerational patterns with families. Students are encouraged to reflect upon the theoretical frameworks to understand and create interventions for alcoholic and substance abusing family systems. Relational clinical models including developmental, systemic, solution-focused, and narrative approaches are reviewed and evaluated. The course examines the history and methods of treatment models. Issues of social justice are emphasized in a review of socio-cultural and social policy that influence family behaviors and treatment. Cross referenced as FT 566. (Prerequisite: CN 465). Three credits.

CN 557 Co-occurring Disorders in Substance Abuse and Addictions Counseling
This course will introduce students to major concepts in the treatment of co-occurring substance use disorders and mental health disorders. Students will develop an awareness of the unique challenges that face clients who are struggling with multiple diagnoses. Students will practice conducting assessments, recovery plans, counseling skills and continuum of care issues relevant to the recovery process for this special population. Combines didactic and experiential learning opportunities (Prerequisite: CN 465). Three credits.

CN 455 Group Work: Theory and Practice
This course focuses on the broad methodology of group work and theories and tasks in interpersonal and multicultural contexts. Candidates observe the nature of their interactions with others and enhance their knowledge about the nature of groups and the current theories and models. Understanding of group work with substance abusers will be explored. (Prerequisites: matriculation in a counselor education or applied psychology program and either CN 500 and CN 553 for counselor education candidates or PY 435 and PY 471 for applied psychology candidates; or permission of the instructor). Three credits.

CN 555 Substance Abuse Counseling: Skills and Strategies
This course focuses on learning, practice and developing counseling skills and strategies as it relates to substance abuse counseling. An overview of assessment, treatment planning, relapse prevention and recovery will be explored. The course addresses theories that are fundamental to addiction counseling with emphasis on the relationship between theory and the practice of effective skills. Candidates will reflect on their roles as counselors and define the qualities, knowledge and essential skills to becoming a competent, ethical, culturally aware counselor in training specific to the treatment of substance abuse. (Prerequisite: CN 465). Three credits.
EVALUATION OF STUDENTS

Students must maintain an overall GPA of 3.0 to remain in the Counselor Education program. In addition, students must receive a grade of B or better in clinical courses (Counseling Relationships and Skills, Practicum, and Internship) in order to proceed to the next course within the clinical sequence.

Students are evaluated informally on an ongoing basis at faculty meetings. If a concern arises regarding a student’s academic or clinical performance, the student’s faculty advisor will be asked to meet with the student to share the faculty concerns. In the event that the faculty is not satisfied with the resolution of a particular issue, more formal means of evaluation may ensue. These more formal means are described below.

Students are advised to take the Counseling Relationships and Skills course during their first semester in the Master’s program. This course is used to assist in the screening of students based on clinical skills. Toward the end of this course, students will be evaluated on clinical and professional skills using a modified version of the Evaluation of Counselor Behaviors Checklist. In the event that students do not receive a grade of B or better in this course, they will be required to repeat the course before continuing in the program.

Every semester, the Counselor Education faculty will meet to evaluate the overall progress of matriculated students who have applied for Practicum during the subsequent semester. Each student who applies for Practicum will receive a letter stating the faculty decision regarding entrance into practicum. This correspondence will also include an overall rating of student progress in academic, clinical and professional areas as determined by the faculty. These ratings will range from above target to below target. The Department Chair will collect relevant feedback from the faculty about a particular student, and students will be encouraged to schedule a meeting with their advisor to discuss this feedback and the student rating.

Students will be evaluated at the mid-semester point during the semester in which they are enrolled in Practicum. This evaluation will include a comprehensive assessment of each student’s clinical and professional skills using the full version of the Evaluation of Counselor Behaviors Checklist. The same evaluation tool will be utilized at the end of the same semester. It is the expectation of the faculty that students will use the feedback they receive at the mid-semester evaluation and work toward improving their clinical and professional skills throughout the remainder of the semester. These evaluations will include input from the student’s practicum instructor, the student’s on-site supervisor and the student’s on-campus supervisor.

Students will be evaluated in a similar manner throughout their internship experience.

In the event that a student's progress is rated as below target academic, clinical or professional criteria, she or he may be placed on probation. In this event, the following process will occur for each of the three levels designating lack of progress or lack of competence:

Level I: The first level deals with less serious issues that typically may be resolved in the course of one semester.
   a. The student will receive a letter from his or her advisor (following the evaluation meeting) outlining the faculty's concerns and stating that the student has been put on probation.
b. The letter will delineate what conditions the student must meet to be removed from probationary status. In addition, the student will be informed of the consequences should the faculty's conditions not be met, including the possibility that the student will be dismissed from the Department.

c. Finally, the letter will state how long the probationary period is to last. Usually, a probationary period is one semester. Subsequently, at the end of the probationary period, the faculty will again assess the student and the advisor will inform the student (in writing) of the faculty’s evaluation. Usually, a student is either reinstated fully or is dismissed from the Department at this time. However, it is possible for probation to be extended if the student has met prior conditions outlined by the faculty but has shown evidence of new deficits or has not met conditions at a satisfactory level.

Level II: Issues at the second level are more serious and require more careful planning on the part of the faculty and student in order to address the problem.

a. Student will be encouraged to meet with the faculty to discuss the lack of progress or competence. This meeting is devoted to working on a remediation plan that would include some actions as well as outcomes so that all parties may be able to judge that the deficiency has been remediated.

b. A letter from the faculty will describe the problem that needs to be remediated, the actions that need to be taken to remediate the problem, and the outcomes that will be assessed to determine changes in the student’s performance.

Level III: The third level involves chronic unresponsiveness to remediation plans or egregious violations that might include issues such as academic or professional dishonesty, or serious ethical violations.

a. If a student is determined by faculty to be chronically unresponsive to remediation plans, then the problem is considered serious and one that might result in termination from the program.

b. In cases where the problem involves a serious lack of progress or lack of competency in coursework, research and scholarship, comprehensive examinations, clinical work, professional behavior, personal behavior, or adherence to the program’s mission or serious ethical or legal violations, the faculty will seek professional consultation initially from within the university and in some cases outside the university to determine a course of action, one of which would be termination from the program.

ENDORSEMENT

Students who successfully complete all requirements for the Master of Arts degree in Counselor Education Department will receive formal endorsement in their area of specialization by the faculty of the training program. Formal endorsement includes recommendation for state certification and employment for those students successfully completing the program in school counseling, or recommendation for employment as a clinical mental health counselor in a setting consistent with the training provided by each program. Students will receive formal program endorsement only in that program for which they have met training requirements.

Successful completion of a program means the completion of all didactic and experiential course work, including practicum and internship, and marked by performance sufficient to insure that the candidate possesses the skills and competencies necessary for ethical provision of services to clients in the setting for which endorsement is made. For the M.A. degree in School Counseling candidates must complete a minimum of 48 semester hours of graduate-level course work. For the M.A. degree in Clinical Mental Health Counseling candidates must complete a minimum of 60 semester hours of graduate-level course work. Candidates must maintain a 3.0 (B) average throughout the program. Students whose grade point average falls below a 3.0 will be placed on academic probation.

Students in the School and Clinical Mental Health Counseling programs should read about their options under "Certification and Licensure."

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

Students pursuing a M.A. degree in the Counselor Education Department must complete and pass a Comprehensive Examination near the end of their academic program. It is highly recommended that the students plan to complete their comprehensive exam during the semester prior to the one in which they plan to graduate.

The Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Exam (CPCE) is a standardized multiple choice exam with a total of 160 questions focused around the eight core CACREP areas. Only 136 questions contribute to the final score. The exam is offered once a semester (fall and spring). Students will enroll for the CPCE the semester they plan to take it in the Registrar’s Office in the Kelley Center during regular course selection dates. In addition to enrolling through Fairfield University, students must complete an additional application and pay the CPCE fee in Canisius 102. At the beginning of each semester, the coordinator for the exam will notify all students of the date of the exam and application process.

In advance of the exam, students will be contacted regarding methods for studying and possible review sessions, as well as the on-campus location of the exam. Therefore, it is imperative for students to check their Gmail account regularly, as information will be sent via email.

A passing grade will be 60% of the 136 items. Students will be informed of their Pass/Fail status 4-6 weeks after taking the exam via e-mail. Also, students will receive a letter from the Department chair detailing the breakdown of the scores in the eight core areas. Your score will be compared to your peers and the national average in the analysis.

If a student does not pass the CPCE with a score of 60%, the student will be required to re-take the exam during the subsequent semester. Graduation is contingent upon a passing grade on the CPCE.

Further information on the CPCE can be found at http://www.cce-global.org/cpce.
GRADUATION

Please Note:

All students must register for graduation during the final semester of their program. The date by which a student must register to graduate is printed in the course catalog of the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions. Graduation occurs three times per year in January, May and August and students may walk in the commencement ceremony in May. Students must complete an application found in the Dean's office, Canisius 102, or on the Fairfield University Web site, and pay a fee of $150.

If payment is not made on time, students will have to graduate the subsequent semester. It is the student's responsibility to be aware of the deadline for graduation and to register; however, students will be notified via Student G-mail of the deadlines during each semester.

GRADUATION CEREMONY

All students who have graduated over the course of the academic year (summer to spring) are invited to attend the Counselor Education Graduation Celebration in addition to the University Graduation. The Counselor Education Celebration is a special event in which graduates are recognized and celebrated for their hard work and determination while studying at Fairfield. The graduate’s on-campus and on-site supervisors are invited to attend the event as well as the graduate’s family and friends.

The annual Counselor Education Graduation Celebration is held on the first Friday each May and is sponsored by Gamma Lambda Chi of Chi Sigma Iota. Graduates and their guests join with faculty, students, alumni, and supervisors to celebrate the start of their journeys as certified counselors.

Three graduates are selected by the faculty to receive awards for the following:

- Outstanding Clinical Mental Health Counseling Graduate
  Criteria include evidence of outstanding academic and clinical performance throughout the program

- Outstanding School Counseling Graduate
  Criteria include evidence of outstanding academic and clinical performance throughout the program

- Outstanding Service
  Criteria include evidence of outstanding service to the Department, which can extend to contributions to GSEAP, the larger campus, and the Fairfield Chapter of Chi Sigma Iota

- Department Chair’s Award
  Criteria include evidence of strong academic and clinical performance and demonstration of citizenship within the Department and in the surrounding community

PRACTICUM

In addition to the academic program objectives established by CACREP, the Counselor Education Department at Fairfield University adheres to CACREP's standards for clinical instruction. Didactic instruction and pre-practicum (Counseling Relationships and Skills and Group Work) are intended to prepare the student to be placed in a counseling setting (school or agency) that matches the student's career objectives. The following guidelines are important to adhere to regarding practicum:

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

a. The student must commit 100 clock hours to the site to meet the requirements of practicum.
b. Of these 100 hours, forty (40) must be direct service hours. Direct service hours involve "face-to-face" interaction with clients which includes the application of counseling, consultation, or human development skills.
c. The student MUST be allowed to audio (or video) record the direct service hours (individual counseling) for the purposes of supervision. (For supervision expediency, all students are required to use an approved digital recorder.)
d. In addition to the above-mentioned requirements, additional course requirements will be listed on your practicum syllabi and are at the discretion of individual faculty members.

SUPERVISION

Because practicum represents the first opportunity for the student to engage in direct service with "real" clients, the faculty assumes primary responsibility for the student's supervision. This allows the faculty the opportunity to tie in didactic instruction and pre-practicum (Counseling Relationships and Skills) preparation with the counseling process itself. Intensive individual and group supervision of practicum will occur on campus. The site supervisor, therefore, is not expected to provide intensive supervision during practicum. Rather, the Department requests that the site supervisor:

a. Organize the practicum experience and assure that the student will have an opportunity to work with appropriate clients in both individual and group counseling. The site must allow the student to audio (or video) record direct service hours for the purposes of supervision.
b. Help orient the student to the site.
c. Provide appropriate space for the student to meet with clients.
d. Monitor the practicum generally in order to determine that the student's needs and the clients' needs are being met.
e. Provide the faculty supervisor with evaluation of the student's overall performance and professionalism during the practicum.
f. Be available to the student in case of emergency.
g. Provide any additional supervision for reasons of necessity or preference. (In other words, the university faculty welcomes the site supervisors’ involvement in supervision above and beyond the minimum expectations listed above).
EARLY PLANNING FOR PRACTICUM

This is the first field experience course that requires a significant time commitment. Faculty does not recommend taking more than one course with practicum. At the time of matriculation into the program, when the student first meets with his or her advisor, it is appropriate to begin planning for the approximate time of practicum. Later, after the student has taken several prerequisite courses, more deliberate planning should begin to take place. Students must submit an Application for Practicum form to the Clinical Coordinator during the semester prior to actual enrollment in the course. Deadline dates for turning in applications for practicum are listed on the calendar and reminders are e-mailed to all students. In addition, for school counseling students, at least one semester of clinical instruction (during either Practicum or Internship) must take place within a school in an urban setting. This may require advanced planning on the part of the student.

FINDING A PRACTICUM SITE

1. Students must turn in a completed, signed, Application for Practicum to the Clinical Coordinator by the date indicated on the Departmental Calendar.

2. Students must contact the Clinical Coordinator and arrange to meet. This meeting should include:
   a. Discussion around the student's career objectives and the availability of practica sites within the student's area of interest.
   b. Formulation of a plan for the Clinical Coordinator to identify appropriate sites.

3. Clinical Coordinator contacts student and provides final site placement information.

4. Students must go to the interview at the site with a completed Practicum Agreement Form. This form should be signed by the Practicum on-site Supervisor and returned to the Clinical Coordinator by the date indicated on the Departmental Calendar.

Note: Practicum is not offered in the summer.

Failure to meet the appropriate deadlines with respect to submitting both the practicum application and/or the practicum agreement form may result in the student’s inability to enroll in Counseling Practicum during the desired semester.

INTERNSHIP

Following successful completion of the counseling practicum, students must complete a counseling internship in a site appropriate to their major. This internship is a two semester (10-month) full-time commitment for those school counseling students who do not hold a Connecticut Teaching Certificate but wish to be certified as school counselors. For clinical mental health counseling students, the internship will consist of a 600-hour experience that can be completed in two semesters (20 hours per week). Students must inform the Clinical Coordinator of their proposed site in a timely manner.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

There are five requirements for internship that are necessary to consider in identifying an appropriate site.

a. The student must commit a minimum of 600 clock hours to the site to meet the requirement of internship.

b. Of these 600 hours, 240 must be direct service hours. Direct service hours involve face-to-face interaction with clients, which includes the application of counseling, consultation, or human development skills. The student is expected to engage in both individual and group counseling.

c. The site must allow the intern to audio (or video) record direct service hours for the purposes of supervision.

d. The site (school or agency) must provide supervision by a supervisor deemed qualified by the Counselor Education Department. The identified site supervisor must hold a minimum of a Master's Degree in the program emphasis area and possess appropriate certifications and/or licenses. In addition, the site supervisor must have a minimum of two years experience as a professional counselor.

e. The site must permit the student intern to participate in a variety of professional activities in addition to direct service work. These activities should be those that a regularly employed staff member in the setting would be expected to perform. In addition, school counseling majors must be able to complete a 10-week teaching experience using a Developmental Guidance instructional unit.

f. In addition to the above-mentioned requirements, additional course requirements will be listed on your internship syllabi and are at the discretion of individual faculty members.

SUPERVISION

The site supervisor is the primary supervisor for the student intern and must commit a minimum of one hour weekly of individual supervision to the intern. Clinical supervision should include supervision of counseling cases and related professional activities. It is HIGHLY RECOMMENDED that site supervisors make use of the intern's audio recorded counseling sessions for supervision. The site supervisor will be asked to provide the Counselor Education Department with evaluations of the student intern's overall performance and professionalism during the internship.
EARLY PLANNING FOR INTERNSHIP

Few internship sites are ideal. The search for an acceptable site involves a number of variables, including mission of the site, whether the site will fulfill the Department's urban requirement, qualifications of the site supervisor, availability of experiences that will enhance the intern's professional growth, and physical proximity of the site to the student intern's residence and to the university. Sometimes a site will appear acceptable to the intern but not to the Coordinator; at other times the intern may find the site unacceptable; and sometimes the site supervisor will not find the intern to be a good fit for the site. For all of these reasons, it is important that the student not delay the search for a best fitting site. Anticipating when the internship will begin is as important as planning when other required courses will be taken. Early in the program, with the advisor’s help, the student should identify approximately when he/she will reach the internship (it can never be earlier than the latter part of the second year of the student's program). In the first month of the student's practicum, he/she should be informing the Clinical Coordinator, of plans for internship (expected semester to start internship, sites under consideration, deadline for informing the Clinical Coordinator, etc.) In other words, if you are beginning practicum in the fall semester, you should make contact with the Coordinator in September to discuss your internship experience.

FINDING AN INTERNSHIP SITE

1. The Clinical Coordinator meets with the practicum student to review appropriate sites.

2. Ultimately, students must submit the Internship Agreement Form to the Clinical Coordinator by the date indicated on the Departmental Calendar.

Failure to meet the appropriate deadlines with respect to submitting both the internship application and/or the internship agreement form may result in the student’s inability to enroll in the Internship course during the desired semester.

Note: Internship is not regularly offered in the summer – as the Clinical Mental Health program grows, there may be enough students to offer a 10-week internship during the summer.

CREDIT HOURS FOR CLINICAL INSTRUCTION

Students will complete anywhere from 9 to 15 credit hours of clinical instruction (practicum and internship). The precise number of hours will be dependent upon the student’s program (school or clinical mental health) and the student’s prior experience and credentials. For the purposes of registration, Practicum will always be worth three credits. A full-time internship experience (approximately 40 hours/week) will be worth six credit hours. It is expected that students can complete the 600-hour internship requirement in two semesters of full-time experience.

a. To be eligible for Certification as a School Counselor in Connecticut, students who are pursuing a Master's degree in School Counseling and who have not completed three years of successful elementary, middle, or secondary public school teaching must complete a full year's (10 month) Internship in a public, charter or private school as long as a certified school counselor is available for site supervision. These students do not have the option of completing their Internship in one semester.

b. Students who are pursuing a Master's degree in School Counseling and who have a valid Connecticut teaching certificate and have completed three years of successful elementary, middle, or secondary public school teaching must complete a 600 hour full-time Internship in a public school to be eligible for Certification as a School Counselor in Connecticut. These students would be able to complete this requirement in one semester.

c. Students who are pursuing a Master's degree in Clinical Mental Health Counseling must complete a 600 hour Internship in a setting appropriate to the career objectives of the student as well as program requirements. This should be done in two semesters of 300 hours each.

Note: It is the faculty's prerogative to require any student to repeat Practicum for credit if it is the faculty's judgment that the student has not demonstrated mastery of skills, professional behavior, or academic progress.
INTERNSHIP CREDITS

At Fairfield, we must meet the requirements of the CT State Department of Education as well as the requirements of CACREP.

CACREP requires that ALL students complete one 600-hour internship experience. Of the 600 total hours, 240 of those hours must be direct service (direct counseling) hours.

The State Department of Education in CT mandates that school counseling students who are not certified teachers with at least 3 years of teaching experience in a public school complete a 10-month full time internship in a public school. This requirement exceeds the CACREP standards.

Please be advised that completing a 600-hour internship in one academic semester is difficult. Students who wish to choose this option must make sure that they can obtain a caseload quickly and have access to clients such that they can obtain 340 direct counseling hours in a 15–16 week period.

Note: If students are in the school counseling program and are required to complete a 10-month full-time internship, they must enroll in 6 hours of CN 590S for each semester.
LIABILITY INSURANCE

All students are required to obtain liability insurance prior to entering the practicum class. It must be maintained during practicum and internship. This means you must resubmit proof of insurance each semester of internship. While lawsuits involving student counselors are relatively uncommon, any service provided the public by a professional (or a professional in training) is vulnerable to the threat of lawsuit. Liability insurance is included in the student membership rates for ACA and ASCA. Therefore, we highly recommend that you become an ACA or ASCA member while you are enrolled in the program. Each student will be asked to apply for liability insurance at the time he or she enrolls in Practicum and Internship, a copy of which will need to be submitted to the clinical coordinator at the beginning of practicum and internship for inclusion in the student's clinical file. The information can be found through the American Counseling Association Web site at www.counseling.org or American School Counselor Association at www.schoolcounselor.org.

BECOMING A LICENSED PROFESSIONAL COUNSELOR IN CONNECTICUT

Once you graduate with a master’s degree and pass the National Certification Exam (NCE), you can begin to accrue hours for licensure. You must have completed 60 graduate credits before you can be licensed.

School Counseling Master’s Students with a Connecticut Teaching Certificate
1. Take 12 additional credits, 4 elective courses, while a master’s student in the program; graduating with 60 credits. This choice will mean that once you pass the NCE, graduate, and complete the 3,000 supervised hours, with evidence of at least 100 hours of supervision by a licensed professional, you will be eligible to apply for licensure.

If you decide to graduate with 60 credits in your master’s program you will not be able to count any hours beyond the 48 required credits for the school counseling master’s degree towards a CAS degree.

Electives in the departments of Counselor Education, Psychological and Educational Consultation, and Marriage and Family Therapy will count toward the LPC.

2. Obtain the additional 12 credits, post graduation, as part of the 30-credit CAS in School Counseling. Some school districts in the State of Connecticut offer a higher pay grade for credits obtained past a master’s degree. If you are considering a CAS based on the possibility of a higher salary, you should research the pay scale systems in various districts and also consider the work required to obtain 30 extra credits, before enrolling in a CAS program.

School Counseling Master’s Students without a Connecticut Teaching Certificate
1. Take 6 additional credits, 2 elective courses, while a master’s student in the program; graduating with 60 credits. This choice will mean that once you pass the NCE, graduate, and complete the 3,000 supervised hours, with evidence of at least 100 hours of supervision by a licensed professional, you will be eligible to apply for licensure.

If you decide to graduate with 60 credits in your master’s program you will not be able to count any hours beyond the 54 required credits for the school counseling master’s degree towards a CAS degree.

Electives in the departments of Counselor Education, Psychological and Educational Consultation, and Marriage and Family Therapy will count toward the LPC.

2. Obtain the additional 6 credits, post graduation, as part of the 30-credit CAS in School Counseling. Some school districts in the State of Connecticut offer a higher pay grade for credits obtained past a master’s degree. If you are considering a CAS based on the possibility of a higher salary, you should research the pay scale systems in various districts and also consider the work required to obtain 30 extra credits, before enrolling in a CAS program.

3. Obtain the additional 6 credits, post graduation, as a non-matriculated student. However, if you were a non-matriculated student before entering the School Counseling Program, you cannot take post-master's courses as a non-matriculated student. You will need to apply to the CAS.

Clinical Mental Health Counseling Students
The Clinical Mental Health Counseling Program will automatically meet the 60-credit requirement. Once you pass the NCE, graduate, and complete the 3,000 supervised hours, with evidence of at least 100 hours of supervision by a licensed professional, you will be eligible to apply for licensure.
CHI SIGMA IOTA INTERNATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Chi Sigma Iota is the international counseling academic and professional honor society with over 17,000 individual members and 170 chapters. Fairfield's Gamma Lambda Chi chapter invites qualified candidates who are advanced counselor education students to become members each spring. The Gamma Lambda Chi chapter provides a forum for professors, students, alumni and local professionals to interact, discuss issues and share professional concerns. Information is available on the first floor of Canisius Hall (near CNS 120).

The requirements for Chi Sigma Iota are as follows:
  a. Minimum GPA of 3.5
  b. At least one full term of graduate study as a matriculated student
  c. At least nine (9) credits completed
  d. A commitment to counseling

The application deadline is during the spring semester, and students will be notified via Student G-mail. The National Chapter Membership Fee is $50 annually in addition to Fairfield University Lifetime Chapter Membership Fee of $25. Students interested in serving as members of the executive committee should express their interest to the coordinating professor.

In the past, Chi Sigma Iota has participated in service activities, the planning of the annual induction ceremony, coordination of workshops hosted by the Department, and hosting a discussion symposium.
COURSE WAIVERS/TRANSFER OF CREDITS

In conformance to CACREP Standards, the Counselor Education Department requires that only graduate level courses be used to meet program curriculum requirements. Students who have taken a graduate level course similar to a Fairfield required course, and earned a B+ or better may be allowed to waive the course requirement. Students need to petition the faculty to request such a waiver. Once the decision has been made that the waiver is appropriate, his/her faculty advisor must submit a "Request for Waiver from Approved Curriculum" on the student's behalf to the Associate Dean of GSEAP.

Students are permitted to transfer in up to nine credits of graduate study toward their Fairfield degree. Again, the student must petition the faculty for approval to transfer specific courses. If the course transfer is approved, both content and credit transfer to Fairfield University.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

The Counselor Education Department typically receives one assistantship per semester. This person works under the direction of the Department Chair. Applications are available on the Fairfield University Web site under Financing Your Studies; however, if you are interested in being considered for the Counselor Education Department assistantship, please notify the Department Chair.

In addition, there are occasional assistantships available in other departments campus-wide. Students are encouraged to contact the Office of the Dean of Students to inquire about such opportunities.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

If a student believes that she or he has been treated unjustly, either in a particular course or as a result of the formal evaluation process, it is the student's right to initiate a formal grievance process. The grievance process is explained fully in the Graduate School of Education and Allied Professions catalog and should be followed in the event of such an occurrence.
FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Transcripts and Financial Aid

1. Where do I get a transcript from Fairfield University? How long does the Registrar’s office keep transcripts?

Fairfield University transcripts can be requested from the Registrar’s office. All transcripts are kept with the Registrar’s office since their inception.

2. I have a question about financial aid.

For financial aid questions, please go to Fairfield University’s Web site and click on Admissions ➔ Graduate ➔ Tuition and Financial Aid.

Program and Class Information

1. How long will it take to complete the program?

Students cannot complete the program in less than 2 years. On average, it takes our students approximately 2.5 to 3 years to complete the program.

2. Can I transfer my undergraduate credits?

No. Only credits from graduate courses can be transferred in toward your Fairfield University graduate degree.

3. How many graduate credits can be transferred in?

Up to 6 credits.

4. Can I waive a course?

Yes, if you have taken a similar graduate level course at another university and earned a B+ or better. However, please note that when you waive a course, you will still need to earn the credits to complete your degree by taking another graduate course at Fairfield University.

5. Will I have the opportunity to take elective classes outside of my required classes?

Elective classes are offered in the program; however, depending on your plan of study, you may or may not have an opportunity to take them.

6. Will elective classes I take to earn a Master's degree count toward a Certificate of Advanced Study?

No.
7. Are classes offered on the weekends or at night?

Classes are offered with the graduate student's schedule in mind. We offer weekday classes at night from 4:55-6:55 p.m. and from 7:15-9:15 p.m., as well as occasional weekend classes.
