1. KELLEY (ALOYSIUS P.), S.J. CENTER
To better serve current and prospective students in one convenient location, the Aloysius P. Kelley, S.J., Center houses the primary services related to undergraduate and graduate admission, as well as the Office of Financial Aid, the Registrar and the Office of Academic and Career Development. Students can stop by Career Planning for assistance with internships, resumes and cover letters.

2. LOYOLA HALL
Loyola Hall is one of eight traditional underclassmen residence halls on campus, in addition to townhouse and apartment communities for upperclassmen. Fairfield University guarantees housing for all four years with 95% of students living on campus during the three first years. Our unique opportunity to live off campus by Fairfield beach entices 30-50% of the senior class.

3. COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
Canisius Hall is the primary academic building for the College of Arts and Sciences with 22 majors and 19 programs in the arts, humanities and natural and social sciences. Canisius, along with Donnarumma Hall and the Bannow Science Center, are where students take core courses. Centrally located and close to the Quad, first-year students have a short walk from their residence halls to class.

4. EGAN CHAPEL OF ST. IGNATIUS LOYOLA
Students of all faiths are welcome and encouraged to participate in the large variety of activities hosted by Campus Ministry, whose offices are located in the lower level of this 500-seat chapel. Campus Ministry offers numerous off-campus retreats and community service projects, and provides on-campus spiritual enrichment including daily and weekend Masses. Join the Lord’s Chords or Praise Project choirs and sing along with your friends at the popular, student-filled Sunday evening Masses.

5. BELLARMINE HALL
The Walter B. Lasher family built their home, “Heathstone Hall,” in 1926, which was later purchased by the Jesuits in 1942, when Fairfield University was founded. The Office of the President is located here along with other administrative departments. Community members can also enjoy the Fairfield University Art Museum’s Bellarmine Hall Gallery, nationally recognized for its collections of Renaissance and Baroque art and other works. The great lawn behind Bellarmine Hall is the location for Convocation, held for first-year students each fall, as well as Commencement, held in May.

6. DIMENNA-NYSIELUS LIBRARY
The DiMenna-Nyselius Library is the intellectual center of Fairfield’s campus, offering the best of traditional and electronic resources. The facility includes a media department, two computer labs, an information technology center, an electronic classroom, a 24-hour study hall with computers and access to study rooms. In the winter months, students take breaks from their studies to slide down the giant library hill.

7. BANNOW SCIENCE CENTER
Bannow is home to the School of Engineering, as well as the natural and physical sciences, mathematics and psychology departments. This advanced science center has over 15 labs, including material characterizations, robotics and machine labs, all of which are used by students in the STEM programs. From the study of the biomechanics of fish swimming and feeding to the development of drinking water treatments in Bolivia, students never lack interesting opportunities for collaborative research with faculty.

8. EGAN (MARION PEEKHAM) SCHOOL OF NURSING AND HEALTH STUDIES
Our brand-new Marion Peckham Egan School of Nursing and Health Studies is home to Fairfield’s nationally-ranked School of Nursing, as well as the Kanarek Center for Palliative Care Nursing Education. About four times the size of its previous facility, the building houses state-of-the-art simulation equipment, open collaborative areas and a high-tech interactive teaching environment that enables students to apply skills and effectively solve clinical problems before working in a real-life setting.

9. GONZAGA HALL
Conveniently located next to the College of Arts and Sciences, Gonzaga Hall is home to many first year students and the women in STEM living and learning community. It also features Fairfield’s Gonzaga Auditorium, where you can attend many events including a cappella concerts, Fairfield Friday night flicks, and our semi-annual Remixx dance show.

10. DOLAN SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
Housed in its own state-of-the-art facility (which includes the Business Education Simulation and Trading classroom), the AACSB-accredited Dolan School of Business prepares students for socially responsible and ethical leadership through interdisciplinary study. Students often visit the Dolan Café in between classes for a treat.
